Land use exposed by aerial photography

October 22, 6:00 pm
Free and all are welcome
Boston Public Library
Rabb Lecture Hall
architects.org/lectureseries

INTREPID AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHER ALEX MACLEAN, author of Over: The American Landscape at the Tipping Point, comes to the Boston Public Library on October 22 to share his unique vision of Americans' land use in "Exploring Design," the BSA's monthly lecture series.

Trained as an architect, MacLean is an educator and the author of seven books that explore the history and evolution of the land—from vast agricultural patterns to city grids—while recording changes wrought by human intervention and natural processes. His powerful, descriptive aerial images provide clues to understanding the relationship between the natural and constructed environments. MacLean has been honored for his work with grants and awards from the National Endowment for the Arts, the American Academy in Rome, the national AIA, the Graham Foundation and numerous other institutions and organizations, including the BSA.

Widely exhibited in the United States, Canada and western Europe, MacLean's photographs offer rare insights into smart and not-so-smart growth and provide the basis of MacLean's presentation this month.

This and all "Exploring Design" lectures are free and open to everyone. We begin at 6:00 pm at the BPL. ■ CE/HSW

Transforming design's mechanistic worldview

October 29, 6:00 pm
Register by October 24
The Architects Building

ISRAELI ARCHITECT NILI PORTUGALI seeks to move "beyond sustainable/green/ecological" architecture by focusing on her interpretation of "the holistic-phenomenological worldview" explored in her book, The Act of Creation and the Spirit of Place (published in London in 2006 and nominated for the RIBA International Book Award last year).

Educated at the Architectural Association School of Architecture in London, Portugali practices in Israel, writes extensively on planning and design and teaches at the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology. She also lectures widely in western Europe and the Far East and will be lecturing in the United States this month and next.

At this informal presentation hosted by BSA President Diane Georgopulos FAIA and sponsored by the BSA's Women In Design Network, Portugali expands on her design theory and its application to contemporary architecture.

Reservations are required for this October 29 event at The Architects Building; the fee is $10 ($5 for BSA members and students) and refreshments are provided. Space is limited to 45 on a first-come, first-served basis; the reservation deadline is October 24. RSVP to bsa@architects.org or 617-951-1433 X221. ■ CE/HSW

The BSA holds its 20th annual College and Career Fair on October 25 at the Wentworth Institute of Technology. The event typically draws more than 300 students from Maine to Maryland and beyond. Admission for students, parents, guidance counselors and teachers is free; visit architects.org/collegefair for more information.

Help shape the BSA's support for mentoring

October 21, 6:00 pm
Payette (285 Summer Street)

ON OCTOBER 21 AT 5:30 PM, the BSA Membership Committee welcomes professionals at all levels of their careers for "Mentoring: It's Okay to Share," a discussion of best practices in mentoring.

Join the group to help broaden our community's understanding of the latest approaches to mentoring within local firms; to share successes and challenges; and to help reinvigorate existing BSA mentoring programs and conceive new ways that we can support a culture of knowledge-sharing.

All are welcome to attend this free event at Payette (285 Summer Street). RSVP to bsa@architects.org or 617-951-1433 X221.

Continuing-education credits, required for all architects registered in Massachusetts, are offered at most BSA events and workshops. Look for the [■ CE] symbol throughout this newsletter for programs that qualify. Visit architects.org/ce for more information. Events described in the ChapterLetter followed by a [■ CE/HSW] designation also qualify for Health, Safety, and Welfare Learning Units.

Honoring the important work of non-architects

October 23, 6:00 pm
The Architects Building

THE BSA ON OCTOBER 23 recognizes the contributions of all those “wizards” working behind the scenes in building-industry firms.

Hosted by BSA President Diane Georgopoulos FAIA, this reception is for all members and nonmembers working in marketing, HR, administration, business management, IT, planning, interior design, landscaping and other non-architect roles in design firms.

Join us for food, drink, and informal networking and socializing—and to learn how the BSA can help you work your magic. We urge readers to pass the word on to others who may be interested in attending.

There is no charge, but RSVP to bsa@architects.org or 617-951-1433 x221 so we can order enough wine and shrimp.

Sanders sparks the conversation

October 28, 7:00 pm
Register by October 24
The Architects Building
architects.org/conversations

JOEL SANDERS—New York City architect, researcher, educator and writer—is the guest provocateur in the BSA’s “Conversations on Architecture” series this month on October 28.

In these monthly design explorations hosted by Brian Healy AIA, leading architects, landscape architects, planners, educators and designers gather to discuss the current state of architecture.

Sanders’ portfolio of award-winning residential, commercial and institutional work has been exhibited widely in the United States, Latin America and western Europe. He currently teaches at Yale, also has taught at Parsons and Princeton and writes frequently for publications such as Pin-Up, Art Forum and the Harvard Design Magazine. Sanders also served as editor of the 1996 Princeton Architectural Press book, Stud:

Architectures of Masculinity. He begins the conversation this month with a focus on his current work-in-progress.

Reservations are required for this event, which is open to all. The $10 fee ($5 for BSA members and full-time students) covers the cost of ample food and drink. Space is limited to 35 on a first-come, first-served basis; reserve your seat by October 24 at architects.org/conversations.

Build Boston

Celebrate design at Build Boston 2008

Build Boston is less than two months away, but there is still time to save on workshops. Register at buildboston.com or call 800-544-1898 by October 24 for an early-registration discount.

A GREAT TWO-FOR-ONE OPPORTUNITY

Come to Build Boston then take the opportunity to visit Greenbuild—which is across the street at the Boston Convention and Exhibition Center November 19 through 21. The BSA and the U.S. Green Building Council are partnering to offer each other's attendees free registration for their respective exhibit halls. A registration counter for Build Boston at Greenbuild and one for Greenbuild at Build Boston also will feature each other's show hours and event highlights.

VISIT 350-PLUS EXHIBITORS AT THE TRADESHOW

Meet one-on-one with the leading suppliers of building technologies, products and services. Discover the latest products making their debut and test out new communications, design, organization and management software. Compare and contrast competing vendors and obtain your best price on the show floor. For a complete list of exhibitors, visit buildboston.com/exh_list_all.asp.

NOT JUST FOR ARCHITECTS

Build Boston workshops are organized in overlapping tracks to help you choose based on your profession and interests. We've developed strong new programs for those "wizards" working behind the scenes in building-industry firms: landscape architects, interior designers, marketing/business development professionals, public policy gurus, and HR professionals and firm administrators.

9TH ANNUAL WOMEN IN DESIGN CONFERENCE

This year's WID event on November 18 explores "Women. Power." and includes workshops, the awards breakfast and the WID exhibit.

BUILD YOUR BUSINESS

In the annual Build Boston keynote presentation, leading industry economist Robert Murray of McGraw-Hill Construction explains what is in store for the U.S. and New England construction industry in 2009. In the business development/marketing track, find workshops on negotiating profitable fees, how designers are selected for state work, marketing for very small firms, the interior advantage and more.

EARN CONTINUING-EDUCATION CREDITS

Architects can earn all the continuing-education (CE) credits needed for the year by attending workshops at Build Boston. Interior designers, landscape architects, engineers and other professionals may also earn credit. And did you know that product research on the tradeshow floor can be self-reported for AIA/CES Learning Units (LUs)? See the insert in your registration packet or visit architects.org/ce for more information.

SPECIAL SYMPOSIUMS

This year, Build Boston expands its day-long programs to provide in-depth discussion and learning regarding the latest issues facing the industry.

DESIGNER-LED TOURS

Explore Boston-area design and construction marvels with tours led by architects and allied professionals. Tours include Boston's Chinatown, the Rose Kennedy Greenway, historic preservation on the cutting edge, artist spaces, luxury hotels, the ICA and more.

GALA AND NIGHTLY RECEPTIONS

At Build Boston, there is an abundance of networking opportunities: the BSA/Build Boston Gala, nightly cocktail receptions in the exhibit hall and more. Last year's gala boasted nearly 600 professionals. Take a cue and join us this year—a great way to conclude your convention experience and the perfect opportunity to visit with Richard Fitzgerald, the BSA's departing executive director. For complete details, visit the "For Attendees" section of buildboston.com and click on "Highlights & Special Events."

Legislative update

Interested in shaping and supporting BSA public-policy efforts? Join the Legislative Affairs Committee (LAC) at its monthly meetings (8:30 am on the second Tuesday of each month) or contact BSA public policy director John Nunnari Assoc. AIA at jnunnari@architects.org to learn more. For updated legislative information, visit the Legislative Affairs Committee website at architects.org/lac.

Massachusetts State House. Photograph by Peter Vanderwarker.

Nunnari to serve as BSA public policy director

JOHN NUNNARI ASSOC. AIA now is representing the Massachusetts architectural profession in his new consulting role as director of public policy. He succeeds BSA staff member Andrew Baldwin, who recently left the BSA to enter law school.

For the last 13 years, Nunnari has worked at HMFH Architects, specializing in public school construction. Over the last decade, he has helped the BSA promote its various public policy positions as a member of both the Legislative Affairs and Codes committees.

Nunnari also serves as co-chair of the Legislative Affairs Committee, is a member of the Architects Day on Beacon Hill organizing committee and is the Massachusetts-appointed member of the AIA State Government Network. He has attended state legislative committee hearings to deliver BSA-endorsed public-policy positions and lobbied Congress on behalf of the BSA and architects nationally.

ON JULY 31, THE 2007-2008 FORMAL SESSIONS of the Massachusetts State Legislature came to a close. More than 14,000 bills were filed this session, with only 559 being signed into law. With 40-plus bills being tracked by the BSA this legislative session, it was an especially busy session for the Legislative Affairs Committee (LAC). Here is a brief summary of some bills that were either signed into law or held in committee, thanks to successful BSA lobbying efforts.

Relative to green communities Signed into law

This comprehensive energy-reform bill seeks to help reduce electric bills, promote the development of renewable energy and stimulate the clean-energy industry taking root in the Commonwealth. The BSA was successful in lobbying for the following changes to the bill:

- We were included on a commission charged to "examine the environmental and economic impact of establishing a green building plan for the Commonwealth."
- We amended a requirement that would allow a "green community to create and enforce building codes on both new and existing facilities within its jurisdiction."
- We successfully argued that the creation of building-code language is the sole responsibility of the State Building Board of Regulations and Standards (BBRS) and that the Commonwealth should adopt the International Energy Conservation Code (IECC) together with "any more stringent energy-efficiency provisions that the board (BBRS), in consultation with the Department of Energy Resources, concludes are warranted," within one year of any revision to the base IECC.

Relative to establishing the Global-Warming Solutions Act Signed into law

This bill requires the Department of Environmental Protection to regulate and inventory greenhouse gas emissions and develop plans for the reduction of the statewide greenhouse gas emissions limit. It authorizes the Commonwealth to promulgate regulations for reduced energy use and increased energy efficiency and establishes economic and climate-change committees for the purpose of advising the Secretary of Energy and Environmental Affairs. Lastly, it requires that climate-change impacts be considered in the issuance of permits to potential business entities.

Relative to authorizing the Rose Fitzgerald Greenway Conservancy to operate, manage and maintain the Rose Kennedy Greenway

Signed into law

This bill regulates the operation of the Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Greenway Conservancy to operate, manage and maintain the Greenway. It articulates the rights, powers, responsibilities and duties of the Conservancy. It establishes a board of directors and dictates how the state will pay for the Greenway's ongoing operations and maintenance.

SB 2749An act providing for the public higher-education capital improvement needs of the Commonwealth*Signed into law

The "Higher Education Bond Bill" seeks to provide for a program of capital improvements of public higher-education institutions and to provide support for these institutions in carrying out their educational missions while enhancing regional economic development through their educational initiatives. The BSA successfully lobbied for the removal of an amendment that would have removed the ability of the Massachusetts State College Building Authority (MSCBA) to use alternative procurement methods when designing and constructing buildings—and would have increased the cost of MSCBA projects, raised student expenses, extended the time required to deliver projects, diminished the range of project types and thus the quality of the student life environment and reduced the predictability of quality, budget and schedule.

SB 178An act relative to interior designers*Died in committee

This bill, filed by the Massachusetts Interior Design Coalition, would allow interior designers to become registered in the state of Massachusetts as licensed professionals, and as such, would allow them to stamp architectural plans for the purpose of obtaining a building permit. This bill has been opposed by the BSA for more than 10 years. In addition to the BSA, the bill is also opposed by the Federation of Massachusetts Building Commissioners and Inspectors, the Massachusetts Fire Chiefs Association and also by some members of the interior design community.

SB 395To promote fire-safe multiple-dwelling residences for elders, the infirm and ailing*Died in committee

This bill would require new construction of day or residential assisted-living facilities and respite-care facilities in excess of 7,500 square feet to be classified as Type 1-B fireproof construction. The BSA opposed this bill because the legislation would override the code-development process, which is a consensual method informed by experts in the field meeting regularly to evaluate current and proposed requirements for building construction.

SB 1360An act relative to the availability and condition of community disaster facilities*Died in committee

This bill would create a commission charged with investigating whether the state should mandate through law, not regulation, the use of Type 1-B construction for schools or public buildings designated as temporary evacuation shelters. The BSA opposed this bill because the legislation would override the code-development process.

SB 1412Mandating fire life safety*Died in committee

This bill would require all student housing, nursing homes, assisted-living facilities and shelters to be equipped with a Massachusetts-manufactured, fire-resistant, intumescent, refractory paint to be applied to all surfaces. In addition to circumventing the code-adoption process, the BSA successfully argued that the vast majority of affected building types (student housing, nursing homes, assisted-living facilities and shelters) already have sprinklers and are built largely of noncombustible materials.

HB 87An act establishing medical daycare providers*Died in committee

This bill would establish and regulate the operation of medical daycare centers that provide medical, nursing, psychosocial and developmental therapies required by medically dependent or technologically dependent children. The BSA opposed this bill because section 12 (1) (b) of the bill would regulate the life-safety requirements of the building in accord with NFPA-101 instead of the State Building Code. The BSA successfully argued that the requirements of the State Building Code have been crafted to coincide with other state regulations regarding daycare establishments. These requirements, found in 780 CMR 424, have been regulating the safe occupancy of daycare centers in the Commonwealth for more than a decade and have demonstrated their effectiveness in ensuring the life-safety and comfort of building users.

Artist Ben Tré discusses his work with design teams

October 27, noon
The Architects Building

SCULPTOR AND PUBLIC ARTIST HOWARD BEN TRÉ, a pioneer in cast glass as a sculptural medium, joins the BSA Placemaking Network on October 27 to discuss projects such as the fountain at Boston's Post Office Square Park and Warrington Town Center in England—which won three national urban design awards.

In addition to numerous public and residential commissions, Ben Tré has exhibited widely, and his work is included in more than 85 museum and public collections worldwide. His presentation and the subsequent discussion zeros in on his experiences with the opportunities and challenges of working with design teams.

All are invited to join the group at this free event at The Architects Building. Lunch is provided; RSVP to bsa@architects.org or 617-951-1433 x221 by 9:30 am on the day of the meeting. ■ CE/HSW

Compliance with accessible design standards made easy (well, easier)

THE MASSACHUSETTS ARCHITECTURAL ACCESS BOARD is in the process of reviewing its regulations for accessible design and construction to be substantially similar to federal standards. This is an opportunity to suggest changes that will make compliance with state and federal access standards easier.

The BSA Access Committee will submit recommendations for changes to 521 CMR in response to Massachusetts architects' suggestions. Now is the time to bring forward your complaints about the Rules and Regulations of the Massachusetts Architectural Access Board along with constructive suggestions for change. The table below displays a helpful format and example submission.

521 CMR XX.X	Current requirement	Problem with requirement	Recommended change
521 CMR 24.3	The min. clear width of a ramp shall be 48" measured between the railings.	49 states require 36" b/w the railings; there is no data supporting wider ramps in Massachusetts.	The min. clear width of a ramp shall be 36" measured b/w the railings.

Bring your suggestions to the BSA Access Committee's meeting on October 22 at noon. The meeting at The Architects Building is free and open to everyone. Lunch is provided; RSVP to bsa@architects.org or 617-951-1433 x221 by 9:30 am on the day of the meeting. ■ CE/HSW

architectureboston.com

IN 2009, ArchitectureBoston, the BSA's award-winning ideas magazine, explores four themes affecting the relationship between the built environment and our culture.

Spring (Feb./March/April) "Neighborhood"

It takes more than geographic proximity to create a neighborhood. For its Spring 2009 issue, ArchitectureBoston welcomes story ideas that explore the idea of "neighborhood": the politics and business of building neighborhoods, the changing functions of neighborhoods and our need for community.

Summer (May/June/July) "Gateway Cities"

This issue features a case study about once thriving mill and manufacturing towns that continue to lose economic ground. Do they offer solutions to the metropolitan housing crisis and sprawl?

Fall (Aug./Sep./Oct.) "Infrastructure"

This issue examines the structural elements of our economy, community and culture that make it possible to move goods, energy and services.

Winter (Nov./Dec./Jan.) "Creative Economy"

Design professionals, builders, graphic designers, branding organizations, artists, dancers, writers and boat makers all contribute to our creative economy—where ideas become a revenue stream. For whom does this creative economy work and how?

For story deadlines, visit architectureboston.com. If you have ideas about the 2009 themes, write epadjen@architects.org. For advertising information, call 800-996-3863.

enjoy diverse networking opportunities year-round.

For example, the Alien Architects Roundtable is a group of architects from other nations who gather monthly to share intelligence on everything from finding work to dealing with U.S. licensing issues. For more information, contact co-chairs Gaia Grazia Giudicelli Assoc. AIA at ggiudicelli@architects.org mds-bos.com or 617-338-5350 or Leonardi Aray Assoc. AIA at 617-267-6408 or leonardi aray@rocketmail.com.

The Women Principals Network discusses practice and related issues, including family leave, mentoring and life/work balance strategies. For more information, write Sho-Ping Chin AIA at schin@payette.com or Katy Flammia AIA at kflammia@theredesign.com.

On October 16 at 6:00 pm, Susan Hellmann, occupational therapist and architecture student, leads a Cape and Islands Network seminar on how sensory systems perceive the environment and the impact of design. The event is at Complete Home Concepts (1520 Route 132/Iyanough Road, Hyannis) and costs $15 ($10 for BSA members). Registration is required by 2:00 pm on October 9; complete and return the registration form at architects.org/reservations.

The Small Practices Network welcomes owners and representatives of small design and consulting practices to exchange management, business development, technical and general practice information. For more information, contact Bill Whitlock AIA at 781-647-8008.

For details on these and other networking opportunities—such as the Boston Chapter of the National Organization of Minority Architects (NOMA), MetroWest Network, Women In Design Network and the Young Professionals Network—flip to the calendar on page 12 or visit the Committees and Calendar sections of architects.org.

Vote now for BSA leaders

Deadline: November 4

IT IS ELECTION SEASON for the BSA—the annual autumn moment when we choose the next president of the BSA as well as several other new members of the board of directors and elective BSA committees. Ballots are mailed to all BSA members this month, and completed ballots must be received at The Architects Building by November 4.

Board of directors

Running for vice-president/president-elect are Larry Chan FAIA (1) of Chan Krieger Sieniewicz and David Hacin AIA (2) of H+A/Hacin+Associates. The winner serves as vice-president in 2009 and assumes the presidency in 2010.

Bob Hoyer AIA (3) of TRO|Jung Brannen and Dan Perruzzi AIA (4) of MPA|Margulies Perruzzi Architects are the candidates for treasurer. The winner will join 2009 President Jim Batchelor FAIA of Arrowstreet, Secretary Audrey O'Hagan AIA of Audrey O'Hagan Architects and the vice-president elected this year on the board's executive committee.

Eleven other BSA leaders and allies are seeking seats on the board of directors: Hansy Better Barraza (5) of Studio Luz Architects, Emily Grandstaff-Rice AIA (6) of Cambridge Seven Associates, Chris Iwerks AIA (7) of Bertaux + Iwerks Architects, Peter Johnson AIA (8) formerly of the Museum of Science, Kiel Moe (9) of Northeastern University, John Messervy AIA (10) of Partners HealthCare, Keith Moskow AIA (11) of Moskow Linn Architects, Tom Sieniewicz AICP, AIA (12) of Chan Krieger Sieniewicz, Carole Wedge FAIA (13) of Shepley Bulfinch, Meejin Yoon (14) of Höweler + Yoon Architecture/MY Studio and Stephanie Pollack (15) of BlueWave Strategies.

Elective committees

The ballot also includes candidates for the following elective committees.

- Ethics: Barbara Boylan AIA (16) of Gale International and Lawrence Cheng AIA (17) of Bruner/Cott & Associates.
- Honors and Awards: Mark Pasnik (18) of over,under, Jennifer Pinck (19) of Pinck & Co., Steve Brittan Assoc. AIA (20) of Burt Hill and Mo Zell (21) of bauenstudio.
- Membership: Vicki Alani AIA (22) of ADD Inc, Christine Crawford AIA (23) of Utile, William Gregory (24) of Wm. Gregory LLC, Lee Michael Kennedy (25) of Lee Kennedy Co., Matt Oudens AIA (26) of Oudens Ello Architecture and Laurie Soave AIA (27) of Bruner/Cott & Associates.
- Nominating: Nazneen Cooper (28) of Harvard University, David Fixler FAIA (29) of Einhorn Yaffee Prescott Architecture and Engineering, Alfred Wojciechowski AIA (30) of CBT and Marcus Springer RIBA, Assoc. AIA (31) of Sasaki Associates.
- AIA Massachusetts Board of Directors: Russ Feldman AIA (32) and Margaret Minor Wood AIA (33).

George Metzger AIA, Chair Nominating Committee

Ed. note: Serving on this year's Nominating Committee with Metzger were Chris Iwerks AIA, Ralph Jackson FAIA, Sheila Kennedy AIA, Tim Love AIA, Hubert Murray AIA, RIBA, Jeff Stein AIA, Marc Truant AIA and Jane Weinzaepfel FAIA.

Meet the new faces on the BSA staff

IN THE THIRD QUARTER OF 2008, the BSA welcomed three new staff members.

Lauren Burn (1) has joined the BSA as the office manager. Lauren's administrative background includes running a realist art gallery as well as a sheet-music press. She holds a B.A. in English from the College of Charleston, where she also served as volunteer and professional choral singer with the nonprofit Taylor Music Festival. Lauren aims to undertake further study of graphic design, having begun a program in commercial graphics at Trident Technical College, Charleston. New to Boston, she is enjoying discovering the city and is glad to bring her precise attention to detail and organizing skills to The Architects Building's front desk. Lauren can be reached at 617-951-1433 x221 or lburn@architects.org.

The BSA's new marketing and sales manager, John Chase (2), has six years of experience in the marketing and design industry. John is the former editor-in-chief of The Royal magazine and has a degree in public relations from the University of Michigan. He has worked with many large-scale clients, including Ford Motor Company, T. Rowe Price, Theme magazine and Bravo TV. His chief responsibilities at the BSA will include managing new marketing initiatives and editing the Homeowner's Project Handbook. John can be reached at 617-951-1433 x242 or jchase@architects.org.

Jennifer Rufo (3) has joined the BSA as the executive/operations assistant. Jen is responsible for volunteer management for Build Boston and Residential Design and Construction, and she also handles registration for BSA programs and workshops. She has spent the last decade perfecting her management skills in various retail and administrative environments. Most recently, Jen worked as the administrative assistant in the Office of Housing and Residence Life at Emerson College, where she also took courses. She has spent much time over the last few years volunteering for Outpost Gallery, using her event planning and catering skills. Jen can be reached at 617-951-1433 x239 or jrufo@architects.org.

For a complete list of BSA staff members and their contact information, click "Contact us" in the "About the BSA" section of architects.org.

Jenner to serve as interim director of BSA

THE SEARCH FOR THE NEXT BSA DIRECTOR, as BSA president Diane Georgopoulos FAIA reported in last month's ChapterLetter, is well underway.

As we go to press, the BSA Search Committee is negotiating a contract with a national search firm we believe brings excellent experience, credentials and insights to the BSA search for the individual to succeed Richard Fitzgerald as executive director of the BSA.

Of special significance for the BSA and for the search process itself, BSA Deputy Director Nancy Jenner has agreed to serve as interim director of the BSA beginning January 1, when Fitzgerald retires, and to remain in that role until a new director is employed. She then will remain as deputy director for the new director's orientation period.

Jenner, who early on alerted the BSA board of directors that she had decided not to be a candidate for the executive director's role, has served as deputy director—or, as Fitzgerald often noted, "co-director"—for the past 15 years. Her commitment to remain at the BSA to continue to manage the BSA's exceptional 16-person staff—and the full scope of BSA operations in general—provides the BSA with extraordinarily valuable administrative leadership and continuity and provides the Search Committee and the board of directors with the opportunity to engage in a thorough search for the next director without any deadline constraints.

For more information, contact Fitzgerald, at rfitzgerald@architects.org or 617-951-1433 x232, or Jenner, at njenner@architects.org or 617-951-1433 x227.

What are we getting for our dues?

EACH MONTH, the ChapterLetter highlights one useful program or service that our BSA dues help underwrite. This month we draw special attention to our public-policy efforts.

Through our public policy efforts, together we influence the shape of our neighborhoods and create safer, healthier and more sustainable places for people to live, work and play.

Read about our activities on pages 6 and 7 and learn more about how you can get involved in the legislative process at the local, state and national level on the Legislative Affairs Committee webpage, architects.org/lac.

EVERY YEAR MORE THAN 100 BSA MEMBERS AND FRIENDS earn free Build Boston workshops by donating a small amount of time as volunteers working with the BSA staff at Build Boston. These volunteers help set up the BSA Resource Center and Design Gallery, monitor workshops and assist at the BSA information booth. In exchange for their time, volunteers attend workshops at no cost or earn credit toward current or new membership dues. There are still volunteer opportunities available on a first-come, first-served basis. For details, visit architects.org/volunteer.

The BSA also offers 500 Tony Platt Build Boston Scholarships to young designers, engineers, contractors, interior designers, landscape architects and other young professionals interested in the career-enrichment workshops available at Build Boston. Each of these full-tuition scholarships covers the cost of a workshop. For details, go to buildboston.com, click on “register” and then “scholarships.”

If you are designing your own or someone else's home on a shoestring, North Bennet Street School may be able to help.

The school's Carpentry Department works on real exterior and interior wood-frame construction projects—and yours could be one of them. For the cost of materials plus a nominal fee, the school's instructors and students provide the labor to build home additions and renovations in Greater Boston. An architect's plans and specifications and a somewhat flexible schedule are all that is required. For more information, visit nbss.org or email Miguel Gómez-Ibáñez AIA at director@nbss.org.

Rotch grant takes architecture students abroad

Proposals due October 24
rotchscholarship.org/studio

A TRAVEL GRANT

ESTABLISHED to augment the architecture student experience, the Rotch Travelling Studio enables educators in architecture schools to take students abroad for first-hand study of foreign architecture.

The Rotch Travelling Scholarship Committee will sponsor one Rotch Travelling Studio for the 2008–2009 academic year. Faculty members in any U.S. school accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board are invited to submit proposals for travel anywhere outside the United States between January 1 and December 31, 2009. Studios must be directed by the faculty applicant and should supplement a specific design studio at the school.

A grant of up to $20,000 is available; October 24 is the deadline for proposals. For more information, visit rotchscholarship.org/studio.

Central Massachusetts Design Awards

Sponsored by AIA Central Massachusetts, these awards honor projects of any size or type built or renovated/rehabilitated in Central Massachusetts by any architect anywhere in the world. Entries are due May 6. Visit aiacm.org for more information.

A proposal by Brian McGrath, associate professor of design at Parsons in Newark NJ, was awarded a grant in the 2007–2008 Rotch Travelling Studio program to help fund a trip for architecture students to Thailand. Above, Bangkok's Central Shopping District and the San Saeb Canal.

Sign up for the 2009 Homeowner's Project Handbook

architects.org/projecthandbook

SIGN UP NOW to be included in the 2009 edition of the BSA's Homeowner's Project Handbook, a guide to residential and small-business architects in Massachusetts. Listings in the Homeowner's Project Handbook are available to designers who are current AIA or Associate AIA members of the BSA and the Central and Western Massachusetts AIA Chapters. The deadline for inclusion in the 2009 edition is December 19.

The handbook enables architects and designers to reach homeowners and business owners as they begin to plan renovations, additions or new construction. It lists architects and designers who specialize in residential and small commercial projects and includes contact information and firm profiles. A display advertisements section offers participants the opportunity for additional exposure by including an image of your work.

All members who purchase a listing also will have the opportunity to submit project images for consideration as the cover image. The Homeowner's Project Handbook is distributed free, in print and online, to thousands of homeowners and small-business owners in Massachusetts and beyond. The handbook also is prominently featured at Residential Design and Construction and Build Boston.

Download a listing form at architects.org/projecthandbook. Questions? Contact John Chase at 617-951-1433 x242 or jchase@architects.org.

Registration open for 2009 BSA Job Fair

January 31
Register by January 9
architects.org/jobfair

THE BSA HOSTS ITS 2009 MASSACHUSETTS JOB FAIR for Careers in Architecture and Design on January 31 at the Northeastern University Ballroom in the Curry Student Center.

Last year, more than 300 job-seekers and 36 architecture firms participated in the Job Fair. The event is free and open to all job-seekers.

The Job Fair Marketplace, where firms' tables are located, runs from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm.

A series of workshops on building a successful architecture career in Boston begins at 11:00 am and runs concurrently with the Job Fair Marketplace. The scheduled workshops, which will feature panelists from BSA member firms and other industry experts, include "Preparing Your Portfolio," "Interviewing and Presentation Skills" and "Fulfilling IDP Requirements."

Requests for exhibit space from BSA member firms receive preference through January 9, so act now to ensure a spot in the Job Fair. To reserve a table, visit architects.org/jobfair.

The BSA Building Industry Classified is the best place to advertise and find industry-related jobs, interns, available space, items for sale or donation and more. Visit architects.org/classifieds to place an ad or view current listings.

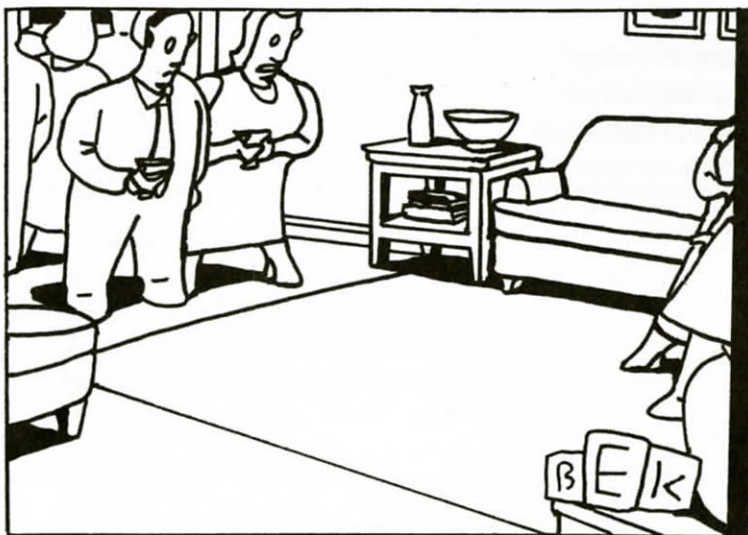

Members take on environmental responsibility

MANY BSA MEMBER FIRMS already contribute to sustainable lifestyles by locating in dense urban areas and promoting and practicing green building. However, some companies are taking things one step further.

BSA corporate affiliate Chapman Construction/Design is installing a 47 kW photovoltaic rooftop array, expected to generate 90 percent of its office's electricity and provide an educational opportunity for the company's staff and clients. The project, which received a $130,000 grant from the Massachusetts Technology Collaborative, also will serve as a learning lab for the community, with tours of the facility highlighting the green strategies and products used in the renovation.

Help spark creative ways to promote sustainability and improve quality of life by sharing your firm's green ideas and innovations with the rest of the BSA community. Submit your firm's story to editor@architects.org.

Chapman Construction/Design expects its photovoltaic rooftop array (pictured above) to meet 90 percent of its office's electricity needs.

architects.org/awards

EACH YEAR THE BSA, OFTEN IN COLLABORATION WITH OTHER ORGANIZATIONS,

sponsors awards programs to honor design excellence in Massachusetts, throughout New England and elsewhere. Submission deadlines for the 2009 design awards, design competition and juried exhibit programs are noted below (there are no separate registration deadlines).

Sustainable Design Awards

Co-sponsored by the AIA New York Chapter, this biennial program solicits submissions from design professionals throughout the country. Entries are due February 2.

Harleston Parker Medal

Co-sponsored by the City of Boston, this annual honor seeks to recognize "the single most beautiful" building or other structure built in the Metropolitan Boston area in the past 10 years. Nominations need include only the name and address of the project and, if known, the architect. Nominations should be emailed to Nancy Jenner at njenner@architects.org by February 13.

K-12 Facilities

Co-sponsored by the AIA New York Chapter, this program honors New England and New York City architects for design excellence throughout the world and architects throughout the world for New England and New York City projects. Entries are due February 19.

Building Enclosure Design Award

Co-sponsored by the BSA's Building Enclosure Council, this award seeks to promote best practices and innovation in the design, construction and performance of building enclosures; it is open to built projects that conform to the Massachusetts State Commercial Building Code. Entries are due February 21.

Sponsorship opportunities. The first edition of the BSA's new annual review of award-winning design will be published in January and feature all the projects recognized by the BSA's 2008 design awards program.

In addition to full-page display advertising in the new publication, the BSA is offering sponsorship opportunities that include display advertising in the publication as well as promotion throughout the year in marketing materials and on the awards section of the BSA website.

To learn more about the new publication, including sales deadlines and image specifications, visit architects.org/awards or write editor Pamela de Oliveira-Smith at psmith@architects.org.

In the Pursuit of Housing Design Award

Undergraduate and graduate architecture students and those who earned architecture degrees within the past five years are eligible to submit built or unbuilt projects to this biennial design competition. Entries are due March 3.

Accessible Design Awards

Co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Architectural Access Board and the BSA Access Committee, this program recognizes new or renovated buildings or other facilities that are accessible for persons of all abilities; designers, clients, community groups, public agencies and anyone else in the world may submit specific access solutions located/built in Massachusetts. Entries are due April 14.

Urban Design Awards

Co-sponsored by the AIA New York Chapter, these awards honor urban design projects, community masterplans, placemaking projects and time-limited installations located anywhere in the U.S.; project authors may be design teams anywhere in the world. Entries are due April 16.

John M. Clancy Award for Socially Responsible Housing

Sponsored by Goody Clancy, this award recognizes public- or private-sector multifamily projects in the U.S. that provide shelter for low- and/or moderate-income residents. Entries are due April 23; visit johnclancyaward.org.

Higher Education Facilities

Co-sponsored by SCUP/New England, this program recognizes higher education facilities by New England architects and New England projects. Entries are due May 14.

Unbuilt Architecture

Architects, architectural educators and architecture students throughout the world are invited to submit real or theoretical projects. Entries are due June 4.

Honor Awards for Design Excellence

Co-sponsored by Poole Professional Ltd. and XL Insurance, this program recognizes design excellence in projects anywhere in the world by Massachusetts architects and projects in Massachusetts by architects anywhere in the world. Entries are due June 25.

Women In Design (WID) Exhibit

This annual exhibit welcomes built, unbuilt and student work in all design disciplines; the design team must include a woman designer, planner, engineer, project manager, researcher, artist or student. Exhibit details are available June 1 at architects.org/wid.

Juried Photo Exhibits at Build Boston and Residential Design and Construction

All New England architects, landscape architects and interior designers who are members of the AIA, ASID, ASLA or IIDA are eligible to submit work to this exhibit co-sponsored by the BSLA, IIDA and ASID. Entries are due July 31.

Detailed calls for entries for all the programs featured on this page will be available on November 1 at architects.org/awards.
